PREPARES FOR JOURNEY

L. L. BOAS, GEOLOGIST, GETTING READY FOR DANGEROUS VISIT, NORTHERN WILDS

L. L. Boas, of 1526 Kenneth Road was in Long Beach last Thursday to consult his partner in an oil prospecting project in Northwestern Washington, ex-Mayor Whealton, and incidentally to give the latter's son a practical lesson in geology, taking him over what is called the "Los Angeles Uplift" with its four districts, one just below Elysian Park, another along Lake Shore avenue between Second and Temple streets, the third near the old Baptist college, Fourth and Hoover, and the fourth west of Bimini. All are still producing some oil. Mr. Boas went down to Long Beach again Friday and was agreeably surprised by his partner with the gift of a handsome and costly Colt's automatic and 150 cartridges. Mr. Boas says the country where he expects to do his prospecting is exceedingly wild and infested with bears. The female likes to seek out a spot called an oil seep, where the oil oozes from the ground, for her wallow, as it keeps her skin in a healthy condition and free from vermin. The prospector is seeking just such spots so he and Madame Bruin are likely to come to blows about it. That is why the automatic will prove such a treasure and very likely a life saver to the prospector.

MORRIS JACKSON TO BE HOME SOON

Morris Jackson, of 316 Milford, who enlisted with the Marines on April 7, 1917, and who has been at Quantico, Virginia, since last November working in the electrical department of the machine shop, is expected home this week. His sea bag came one day last week by express and his overcoat later by mail, so he may come any time by passenger train.

LINEN SHOWER

BRIDE OF FEW WEEKS GIVEN PLEASANT SURPRISE BY FRIENDS

Just as love does not end with marriage, so should not bridal showers, is the firm conviction of the many friends of Mrs. Roy Jellison, who was formerly Miss Leona Brice. It was Miss Zelma Lindley who conceived the plan of giving the matrimonial shower which was staged so successfully last Friday evening at the Lindley home, 342 North Kenwood. The young people were married at San Bernardino on August 25th and have since been staying with the bride's parents, but will soon go to Arizona, where Mr. Jellison will take up insurance work with his father-in-law.

The Lindley home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white. Carnations in those colors were used in profusion and pink and white boats filled with candy hearts in the same colors were used as place cards. Pink and white crepe paper and similar-hued kewpies were also in considerable evidence in the decorations. In the patio was a large boat filled with linen offerings from the many friends of the bride. In the living room was the family boat, from which the bride was represented by a small figure as descending to enter the matrimonial boat which floated near by, in which her husband was waiting. This quaint conceit was worked out perfectly and won great applause from those who had not been in the secret of the design. All the boats and figures were in the ruling colors. The refreshments served consisted of pink and white ice cream and cake.

A musical romance of the Civil War was arranged as a contest and Mrs. Jellison won the prize. A matrimonial contest followed, in which the prize was won by Miss Marian Addison. The groom and his chum, Jimmie Clark, came in as refreshments were being served and remained until all was over.

Those present as guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jellison, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert McAdams, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. W. Fuller, Mrs. Floyd Reed, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Mrs. Chas. H. Scott, Mrs. C. P. Brice, Mrs. S. F. Lindley, Mrs. Fred Croft, Misses Olive Chandler and Isabel Isgrig of Los Angeles, and Misses Winifred Jones, Jessie Shepherd, Leone Shattuck, Helen and Doris Ingledue, Margaret Lusby, Leona May Bright, Marie Oliver and Helene Schwartz.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM

DIRECTOR BLANFORD IS ARRANGING SERIES OF CHAMPIONSHIP BALL GAMES

Mr. Blanford, director of athletics in the city schools, has arranged a schedule of soccer games for the boys of the schools and is at work on a schedule for volley ball games for the girls. For the soccer ball work the schools have been divided into two leagues. One of these leagues will consist of two teams from the Intermediate of boys under 4 feet, 9 inches. The other two schools in the league will be Columbus avenue and Central avenue. In the other league will be Cerritos avenue, Pacific avenue, Colorado street and Broadway. The schedule provides for a championship series of games to last six weeks. Each team will play six games, and the boys who win will get athletic certificates. The winners of the North End League will play the winners of the South End League and the winners in these finals will receive not only athletic certificates but a pennant for their school.

These local league games will not begin until about the 13th of October, the interval between now and then being employed in practice for the contests.

Harry Campbell, one of the new instructors at Intermediate, will coach the teams of that school which will line up games with Echo Park, Normal, Eagle Rock and Burbank the same as last year.

MOTORMAN FINED FOR SPEEDING ELECTRIC CAR

For the first time in California, it is claimed, the motorman of an electric car has been fined for violating the speed laws. It was in Pasadena and the motorman fined was A. W. Capron, who was in charge of the P. E. car that killed P. D. Wilson a few days before. The traffic ordinance specifies 20 miles an hour as the speed limit and Capron was charged with exceeding that figure.

FIRST-CLASS SCOUTS ENJOY TREAT

Last Saturday morning First-Class Scouts Robert Frazee, Thomas Woods, Henry Blanchard, James Gonzales and Star Scout Benjamin Robison, of Troop No. 2, Glendale, assembled at the home of their Scout Master, R. L. McCourt, at 8 o'clock. They were told that a treat was in store for them, but they did not know what it was.

The first thing on the program was a visit to Scout Headquarters in Los Angeles. The boys then went to Mr. McCourt's factory and greatly enjoyed the privilege of inspecting so large a place.

After luncheon they went to see the Presidential parade. After eating peanuts to their hearts' content and yelling themselves hoarse, the happy party motored home.

During the year Troop 2 has been doing some excellent work and is one of the few troops that can say that they have no tenderfoot Scouts in the troop, all being Second-Class Scouts or of higher rank.

In the last Liberty Loan Drive the troop proudly carried off the German helmet offered the troop selling the most bonds.

"CHARIOTS--MANTLES'

FULL PROGRAM AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Memory "hits" from sermon of Rev. W. E. Edmonds at yesterday morning's service:

"Chariots and Mantles." Text 2 Kings 2:12. (Read the rest of the chapter). A wonderful story of a man to be taken instantly from earth to heaven, into the presence of God.

The story suggests God's remarkable dealings with individuals instead of with institutions. We usually find that an institution prospers because at the head is a Spirit-filled man or woman.

When a man is needed God raises up an individual to fill the place. Joshua took the place of Moses. Elijah's mantle fell upon Elisha.

When death comes and you are stripped of all that is physical how are you clothed spiritually? Have we a mantle to smite the rivers of infidelity and selfishness and all the hindrances that come into the life of a Christian worker?

There are twelve hundred millions who do not know of Jesus Christ and the way of salvation. Shall we with our few loaves and fishes take this mantle of power and bring the world to a knowledge of

STEEL STRIKE FIGURES CONFLICTING

NATIONAL COMMITTEE OF STEEL WORKERS CLAIMS THE STRIKE IS 90 PER CENT EFFECTIVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, September 22.—Today's report fails to indicate whether the nation-wide steel strike which started at 6 a. m. today would develop into the country's greatest industrial war, as many had predicted. In some districts all plants were closed while in others mills continued operations. The big plants at Gary, Indiana, were practically closed.

Secretary Foster of the steel workers' national committee, declared the strike was 90 per cent effective. The United States steel corporation issued no statement.

Reports gathered by the United Press from all steel centers showed that at Pittsburg the Carnegie Steel Company claimed that only five percent of its men struck and only one blast furnace was closed. The union claimed that a large majority of the men in the Pittsburg district went out. Employers' figures covering all the mills in that region indicated that a total of 25,000 struck.

At McKeesport, Pa., the mills continued operating. All plants at Sharon, Pa., were closed. Reports from Cleveland, Ohio, showed that 19,000 struck there and a total of about 40,000 struck in Ohio.

All work has been suspended since early morning at Gary, Ind. The union claimed that 18,000 out of 22,000 employed in that district had quit, while the company admitted that less than 11,000 had reported for work.

At Chicago six of the Illinois Steel Company's eleven furnaces were cold. The union claimed that 90 per cent of the employes in the Chicago district were out while the company's figures were 20 to 25 per cent.

Over half of the steel workers employed at Joliet have quit. Five thousand were reported out at Martin's Ferry, Ohio, and all mills were closed.

At Buffalo, New York, the union reported 20,000 struck while the company said 12,000. All plants at Monesson, Pa., were closed and 10,000 men were out. The unions claimed that 1800 struck at Milwaukee. Wheeler, W. Va., reported 1500 idle. Birmingham, Ala., Atlanta, Ga., and Steelton, Pa., were not affected.

SENATOR KENYON INTRODUCES RESOLUTION TO DETERMINE WHETHER GOVERNMENT ACTION IS NECESSARY

PRESIDENT TO STOP IN SACRAMENTO

WILL MAKE BRIEF SPEECH THERE THEN GO FORWARD TO RENO AND SALT LAKE CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Aboard the President's Train in California, Sept. 22.—The President's special en route to Reno from Los Angeles passed through Modesto at 9:40 this morning. Sacramento is the first scheduled stop and it is expected the President will make a brief speech there. He will leave Reno for Salt Lake immediately after tonight's speech.

Many telegrams have been delivered to the President's car and it is understood the President is keeping in close touch with the steel strike situation.

SCHOOL BOARD PLANS

MEMBERS CONFER WITH ADVISORY COMMITTEE RELATIVE TO SCHOOL PROJECTS

This evening members of the Board Board of Trustees of City Schools will confer with the special advisory committee appointed at a mass meeting prior to the bond election, and will discuss the best ways and means of carrying out the school projects for which citizens have voted bonds. The bonds have been sold, but funds will not be available until the sale has been duly approved by the legal advisors of the purchasers. The transaction is far enough along, however, for the Board to formulate plans for expending the money.

WORD FROM REV. NORTON

Rev. C. R. Norton writes from Belpre, Ohio, September 15th, saying he and Mrs. Norton are having a very delightful trip. Last Sunday he preached three times, first at Cutler where he was born and grew to young manhood, in the afternoon at Briggs and in the evening at Constitution. In the evening he spoke on how he became a preacher and gave some of the interesting events of his long ministry. They expected to reach Keota, Iowa, by the 21st. They enjoyed every minute of the encampment and send greetings to Glendale friends. They expect to reach home by November 2d or 3d.

MR. AND MRS. HEDGES ENTERTAIN

Wm. Hedges and wife of 121 East Park avenue had "Old Home" day last Friday. Former residents of Fort Scott, Kansas, their own home city, to the number of 24, gathered at their residence by invitation and spent an evening of rare enjoyment. Several of those present had been spending the summer in California and were on the eve of returning home.

GLENDALE HIGH ENROLLMENT

Enrollment at Glendale Union High School to date is 671 as reported by Business Manager Irving H. Oliver. Last year at this time it was 631 and the year before that 534. The increase in two years therefore amounts to more than 25 per cent, and it will no doubt be augmented as there are always additions from the families of new comers who buy or rent in Glendale during the fall and winter.

GLENDALE'S TENNIS TIMBER

That high school tennis players do not forget their skill nor interest in the game when they leave the campus and enter the business world is proved by the creditable work of some of the Glendale graduates who defeated Hollywood experts in a close game played Sunday on the Hollywood courts in the first day's play of the Los Angeles County Tennis League schedule. The results of the games were reported as follows:

Jones (Hollywood) defeated Thomas (Glendale), 6-2, 6-2; Hinckley (Hollywood) defeated Beldin (Glendale), 6-2, 6-8, 6-2; Balthis (Glendale) defeated Troyer (Hollywood), 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, Craig (Glendale) defeated Ethlin (Hollywood), 7-5, 6-1; Bowers (Glendale) defeated Hodgson (Hollywood), 6-0, 6-1; Shook (Glendale) defeated Mannocir (Hollywood), 6-4, 8-6; Thomas and Beldin (Glendale) defeated Hinckley and Troyer (Hollywood), 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; Mannocir and Ethlin (Hollywood) defeated Craig and Blue (Glendale), 8-6, 8-6; Shook and Bowers (Glendale) defeated Jones and Hodgson (Hollywood), 6-3, 1-6, 6-2.

PREPARES FOR JOURNEY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Prendeville have sold their home at 324 S. Adams and bought a very desirable lot on Patterson avenue on which they will build at once.

IN HUMANITY'S CAUSE

DR. TEEL'S WORK IN GERMANY WAS TO BUILD UP, NOT TEAR DOWN

There is a glamor about active warfare that attracts the youth and causes him to think the doctor's work is dull and uninteresting. The full panoply of war with its blare of music, the thunder of great guns and the rattle of small arms; the wild charges on the foe while aeroplanes wheel and circle above, appeal to the romantic in both sexes. But the doctor works long hours in blood-reeking hospitals, with only suffering and death to behold and nothing to appeal to his sense of the grand and heroic. But who will say that his work is not every whit as necessary as that of the soldier in the ranks? Of this latter class of heroes was Dr. A. W. Teel, who recently returned from Berlin, and the many physicians and dentists of Glendale who left lucrative practices to face hardship and privation in field and camp and hospital.

Dr. Teel left Glendale August 11, 1918, for Camp Kearny, where he joined Base Hospital 96, working there till October 15th, when he entrained with fellow workers for the eastern coast. They went on the Santa Fe to Chicago, and thence to New York over the Erie and New York Central. As the Santa Fe train passed through Hinsdale, Iowa, a little flag station and Dr. Teel's old home, he went out on the platform to view the old town as the train whizzed through without stopping. By a wonderful chance his mother, who lives right by the track, was out in the yard and they recognized each other instantly. A wave of the hand from each and they lost sight of one another, not to meet again until a few days ago, when he stopped on his way home to visit her a day or two. They arrived in Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 20th and remained in camp there a week. On the 27th he, with the others of Base Hospital 96, boarded the Orca and they set sail in the evening with a convoy of 15 other transports, while airplanes and observation balloons wheeled and circled above to observe possible submarines approaching. The little fleet was convoyed by encircling warships and destroyers and took the northern route. It was extremely cold and no fire was permitted on board the ship, so their sufferings were great. Five days out, Capt. Harvey Thorpe, a very promising young Los Angeles surgeon, died of pneumonia following an attack of influenza. He was Dr. Teel's room-mate and a very popular young fellow. His death was extremely depressing to the men as the voyage over was not a very pleasant one, especially as the food was poor and there was a constant liability of being torpedoed and sunk. They had to walk briskly about the deck almost constantly to keep from freezing. They sailed into the harbor of Liverpool, England, the afternoon of October 27th, cold and hungry, with a drizzling rain falling. Debarkation but added to the unpleasantness of the situation. Before all were unloaded darkness had settled down and they were crowded into the wharf shed, which was barely lighted, in striking contrast to brilliantly illuminated New

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

COLLEGE LIFE AND JEWISH HISTORY DWELT UPON AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Go-away-to-college day was celebrated at Central Christian Church Sunday morning by a most impressive service. The pulpit and rostrum were decorated with college pennants and colors and on the platform with Rev. Cole sat four of the six college attendants the Church and Bible School claim as members. After appropriate songs, short talks were made by the two young ladies who go away for the first time this year, Misses Bessie Jeter and Martha Ray, the former to Occidental and the latter to U. S. C. Both answered the question "Why Do I Go to College," by general statements to the effect that they thought it the best way to fit themselves for lives of usefulness to others; hoping to be worthy to teach others they must be willing to receive instruction.

Miss Florence Heacock spoke at greater length on "Why I Went to College." She told of the work of the past two years and what it meant to her. The principal reason given was that her parents desired her to go, as they had not been able to take college courses themselves. But the joy of learning was now the

Jesus Christ in this generation?" "Greater things than these shall ye do."

How may I have this power that I may attempt the impossible things? The great question is, do you really want it? Are your filthy robes of unrighteousness so unsatisfactory that you really want a mantle of power for righteousness?

A great many Christians may be classed as "powerless."

There are many people in the church that have arrived at a spiritual terminus. Their journey of spiritual power has stopped.

How may I have this power? One way is by earnestly desiring it.

There are kinds of power that people fear. What kind of power do you want? Social? Political? Power in the things of this world? Or do you want power for the souls of men that men and women may be fitted for glory? You may have this kind by looking unto Jesus.

The price of power is purely the matter of vision. "If you see me" you shall have a double portion of my spirit, if you do not you shall not have it. The seeing Christian is the Christian of power. "Where there is no vision the people perish," says the Scriptures.

If you are listening to the siren voices of the world, are you losing your vision of God?

Do you want this power? You can have it. You get it by appropriation. God intrusts any one with it who is willing to take it.

Elisha did not fold up the mantle of Elijah and keep it for a souvenir, he used it for service. All power is for service.

No chariots of fire will come for you or for me. Jesus Christ is coming Himself, before the resurrection, before the millennium, before the judgment, and before some generation passes away. "Oh brothers, let us stand as men that wait."

GERMAN REPUBLIC SEEKS DIPLOMATS

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN. (By Mail).—The new republic is finding selection of diplomats a real job. Of course, it isn't entirely necessary that Germany make out a whole slate of ambassadors and ministers just yet, particularly if entente nations only send here charge d'affaires. But, the policy of the government will probably be, in such an event, to send out charges and consuls—the charge perhaps being the man intended for the higher post of minister or ambassador when full diplomatic relations with the outside world are resumed.

Germany's difficulty arises from the fact that some of the men of the old diplomatic service would be persona non grata at certain capitals, while the new regime so far has not produced many big prospects of ambassadorial size.

So far, in connection with the American ambassadorship, only two names have been much mentioned—Maximilian Harden and Dr. Solf, the former colonial minister and later foreign minister in the closing days of last year.

Harden hasn't a chance to go to the Washington post. He has made more or less of a name for himself in America—but that doesn't count for anything with the present situation. In fact, he isn't taken seriously by the present government in that connection.

On the other hand, Solf has considerable backing for the place. Solf is a man of liberal tendencies. He appeared during the war as an opponent of many of the government's policies; and as foreign minister last winter stuck strongly for strict adherence to the "Fourteen Points" in application of the peace to Germany. He speaks English with scarcely an accent, is favorably known in many prominent American and English quarters, has traveled extensively, met Presidents Taft, Roosevelt, McKinley, and has been a close student of President Wilson's policies. He and Col. House were friendly before the war.

Solf looks, at first glimpse, somewhat like American Secretary of Interior Lane, though he is of heavier build and of more rugged countenance than the American.

Solf distinguished himself — in Germany at least—last winter by his open breach with Haase, leader of the independents. Solf declined to associate with Haase, holding that as leader of the independents he was cognizant of a big "slush fund" which the Russian Bolsheviks had placed to the credit of the radicals here in Berlin. This caused quite a sensation and helped undoubtedly, in foreign countries, to show that there was no government alliance or sympathy with the Lenine-Trotzky regime.

He is of about middle age, active, diplomatic, highly educated and according to many substantial Germans he would be a good representative of the new republic.

Former American Ambassador Bernstorff is known to regret that his position with the American people is such that he could not again become ambassador to Washington. While he has been booked for the Rome post, it is possible that he will decide to abandon diplomacy in favor of politics, and run for the Reichstag in the coming elections.

The British and French posts do not even have any "among-those-mentioned" people. It isn't a case here of difficulty in finding places "for all the deserving"—but rather of finding "deserving" and capable men for the places.

WHAT'S A FOOD FADDIST NOWADAYS?

A food faddist harangued a mob on the marvelous benefits to be obtained from a vegetarian diet.

"Friends," he cried, "two years ago I was a walking skeleton—a haggard, miserable wreck. What do you suppose brought this great change in me?"

He paused to see the effect of his words. Then one of his listeners asked:

"What change?"

impelling motive. She referred to Willard Learned, at her right, who was also a Junior in Occidental and who was chosen this year as president of the class. Willard was the next speaker and told of the wish of his parents and the sacrifices they had made that he might attend college; of the dedicating of his life four years ago to the mission field and his constant aim since then to prepare himself thoroughly for the great work. As he spoke of his longing to do this service for his Lord and of his joy that he was counted worthy to undertake the task, there was not a dry eye in the house. The fellowship of the other students and the friendship of his teachers were dwelt upon as some of the joys of the college life. Rev. Cole closed the addresses with a brief talk from the standpoint of the college graduate. He told of his struggles to work his way through college, attendance on which had been his ambition since his 7th year. Statistics were given showing the large number of prominent men who had been graduates of small colleges, particularly church colleges. The many colleges of this class in Southern California, such as Occidental, U. S. C. and Redlands, were mentioned approvingly and the founding of a new Christian college in Los Angeles, to be open for students next September, was dwelt upon. The hope was expressed that by that time the Glendale Church and Bible School may have a large number of students to enter for the opening term.

Of the two "collegers" not present at the service, Miss Louise Hester was unavoidably absent and Don Davis has entered Kansas University.

In the evening the building was crowded to its capacity to hear Rabbi Joseph Goldman, a converted Jew and member of the Christian Church at Roseberg, Oregon. He referred briefly to his tragic life history, telling of the murder of wife, six children and other relatives, and the death of his only remaining son as an American soldier in Belgium, leaving him as the last of 75 generations of Goldmans. And he declared he had not the slightest sympathy with and only horror and detestation for the principles and actions of Emma Goldman, who was not of his family, he was glad to state. He glorified America as the chosen nation whom God would bless because of the promise made to Abraham, as told in Genesis. "Them that bless thee will I bless and them that curse thee will I curse." He referred to the fall of Chaldea, Babylon, Egypt and the Roman Empire of old as having been so cursed, and of Spain, Portugal, Germany, Russia and Poland of later days who had been cursed of God because they persecuted and murdered the Jews. He said that the Stars and Stripes, the Union Jack of England and the Flag of David would ere many years fly intertwined, over the Temple of Israel in Palestine, where the Jews would gather by millions and become Christianized, thus fulfilling prophesy. There were flashes of humor at times in the address and terrible denunciations of Israel's foes at others. Mr. Goldman announced his early departure for Palestine to take up the work of evangelizing his people.

The special music at both services was greatly enjoyed.

PLACES IN OUR SAHARA

The transient in the dry town smacked his lips longingly and conjured up visions of a glass of foaming lager.

"Say," he said finally to a passerby. "I'm simply dying of thirst. Isn't there any place in this forsaken town where I can get a drink?"

The native eyed him for a moment, and then leisurely pointed his finger.

"See that millinery store across the street?" he asked.

"Uh-huh."

"Wal!" — (very laconically) — "that's the only place in town you can't!"

IT'S GEORGE'S MOVE NOW

"Is your watch going, George?" she asked sweetly, stifling a yawn.

"Yep," answered George.

"How soon?"

"Yes, indeed, Sam; and found 'em guilty."

Personals

Mrs. J. M. Leek of 335 Vine street arrived at home one day last week from a month's visit with relatives in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Mrs. G. H. Lorentz spent Saturday and Sunday at Santa Monica, after a few hours in Los Angeles to join in welcoming the President.

Shelby T. McCann of 400 Oak St., who has been seriously ill for several months, is no better and his friends are seriously concerned about his condition.

A message from LeRoy W. Bosserman states that he and his family are now visiting in York, Nebraska, and will be back in Glendale about the middle of October.

Mrs. R. M. Jackson leaves Wednesday for quite an extended visit in the East. She will spend some time in the old Kentucky home and also attend the International Convention of Christian Churches in Cincinnati, as state secretary of Southern California for the C. W. B. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Flutot of 412 Oak street spent yesterday at their walnut ranch at Whittier. Next Monday they will go again to remain for a month during the walnut harvest. They will be acompanied by their sons, Edward and Robert, who will attend the Whittier Schools during their sojourn there.

Dr. and Mrs. Colin Cable returned last week from a pleasant and very restful outing at Catalina. While the immense summer throngs are gone there are still plenty of visitors at the island. The boat on which they returned brought 700 passengers. They are entertaining tonight at dinner, Miss Beatrice Sampson, of Montreal, Canada.

J. H. Jackson and wife of 316 Milford have received word from their daughter, Miss Bertha, who started Thursday, September 11th, to Yakima, Washington, a letter announcing her arrival at the home of her uncle, Dan Williams, after a delightful journey of three days. The country about there is very beautiful and apple picking at its height. The crop is very large and is bringing unusually high prices this year.

Major J. J. Weiler, father of Mrs. Joseph Griffin who has been seriously ill ever since the G. A. R. Encampment at Huntington Beach, is very low. He is not suffering, but his life is ebbing slowly away. He is unconscious and his death is expected at any time. Will King, who is now connected with the Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside but who was his neighbor in Ohio, came over to see him Sunday and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Griffin. He is still being cared for by his old friend and army comrade, Robert Taylor.

Harold Russell of 643 North Maryland avenue has returned from a two months' visit with relatives and friends in the east in which he had a royal good time. He has taken up advanced work at the High School. His mother, Dr. Jessie Russell, has just been appointed vice-chairman of the State Committee on Legislation concerning the influx of Asiatics. Senator Inman is chairman. They feel that uniform marriage laws should be established and enforced and that there should be some check on "picture brides" entirely independent of race considerations. The doctor has also been asked to accept the vice-chairmanship of a committee organized to promote the swift ratification of the League of Nations, of which she is in favor.

BUTTER REACHES HIGHEST MARK

The produce exchange price on butter today is 66 cents a pound. This means that the retailers pay 70c a pound for it. They are selling at from 75c to 78c, a profit of less than 10 per cent, which shows that our grocers are far from being profiteers. This is the highest mark ever reached for butter in Southern California and the unprecedented rise is laid to the recent strike, which caused the loss of a great deal of milk before it could be delivered to the creameries. Eggs are quoted at 60c a dozen wholesale and retail at 68c.

SINCLAIR—BALTHIS

The marriage of Miss Esther Louise Sinclair and Douglass Balthis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Balthis, was quietly celebrated Friday morning, September 19th, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, at 1226 East Lexington Drive. Rev. W. E. Edmonds officiated and the only witnesses were the members of the families of the contracting parties. Following a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Balthis will be at home to their friends about October 1st, at 1226 East Lexington street.

G. G. Isaac of the Isaac Studio and Mrs. Isaac were Sunday guests of friends near Arcadia.

Mrs. George Tauxe of 115 East Park avenue and her three children have been victims of an attack bordering on bronchial pneumonia. For several days all were very ill, but the mother and one child are now able to be about, but the baby and George, Jr., are still under the care of a trained nurse.

Miss Iva Hunter left Glendale last week for Beaumont where she has accepted a position in the High School and where she will be joined by her father who will make his home there with her. She has a large circle of friends in Glendale who will be interested to learn of this change which she is making as she has taught in the Glendale schools and been a resident of the city for some time. She was graduated from Stanford University last spring.

HEART TRUE TO GLENDALE

Mrs. Charles Shattuck is evidently enjoying her stay in Michigan. Writing to a friend under date of September 13th, she says: "I am glad to be able to report a very pleasant trip. We were uncomfortably warm only one afternoon and evening and that was at Needles, California, and the first half of the night into Arizona. I arrived in Plymouth Saturday, September 6th. Sunday and Monday were extremely warm. Tuesday we had a nice rain and the weather cooled off. Since then we have had a fire in the furnace every morning. There is no frost yet, but the leaves are falling fast and it begins to look like fall. I find my mother very comfortable and so happy that I can take her out in her wheel chair every day. As we go along friends come out from their homes in every direction to shake my hand and greet me and seem so pleased to see me. I have also had many callers and auto rides into the country, but I miss Glendale and my friends there."

NEEDLEWORK PARTY AND SHOWER

Mrs. Harry W. Wilson, of this city, was guest of honor at a very pleasant needlework party and shower given by her sister, Miss Christina Ferriss, assisted by her mother, Mrs. D. E. Johnston, at the Waldorf Apartments in Los Angeles, Saturday afternoon. Big bouquets of carnations and ferns decorated the living rooms for the occasion and after dainty refreshments had been served at the close of the afternoon a large basket was brought and placed in front of Mrs. Wilson filled with gifts from her friends. These were opened and admired by the recipient and her guests and included many beautiful and dainty articles of needlework. A partial list of the guests included the following ladies from Glendale: Mesdames Ford, Leo Goode, Seymour Smith, Morse Preeman, Merritt Brown, Charles Wells, and Misses Charlotte Davis, Martha, Ray, Marcella Miller, Cecilia Lyons and Irene Mock.

The funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers tomorrow, 2 p. m., the Jewel City Undertaking Company in charge.

FALL SHIMMIE

The "Fall Shimmie" dance given Friday evening by Owen Dare, Tommy Lyons and Owen Showalter, was a most successful affair and was enjoyed by about seventy-five couples of Glendale young people. Howdy's colored orchestra furnished the music, and the patrons were Messrs. and Mesdames E. K. Barnes, J. A. Logan and A. W. Beach.

The Happiness of a Home

is influenced by the furniture more than might at first appear. Not that expensive furnishings will bring happiness; but the home that is tastefully and restfully though perhaps inexpensively furnished, with comfortable chairs made to rest in, soft couches that woo sleep, and all things arranged for convenience and comfort is apt to be a home where the tired wage earner loves to go and to which the children look back with tender and loving memories after they have left it.

Perhaps you lack a few pieces of furniture, a chair, a table, a rug, a couch, a gas range, a bed or a dresser, to make your home the acme of comfort and happiness. If so, consult with us and let us help you make it so.

York, which they had so recently left. It brought to the minds of all the horrors of the air raids they had read so much about, from which the English people had suffered terribly. And there was no assurance that another raid would not come off that very night. They were marched a long distance through the mud to a railroad station to board a train for Southampton. After a long and tedious wait there they were crowded into the characteristic English third-class compartment car where each was handed a letter from the King of England congratulating them on their country's participation in the war and assuring them he and his people appreciated what they were doing for them. They were glad to get these missives, but would have appreciated more some warmer and less crowded cars and a few blankets. The night passed slowly and morning found them traveling across a most beautiful country. Southampton was reached before noon and 24 hours later they embarked for Le Havre, France, which was reached during the night of November 10th. And the next day the armistice was signed.

Le Havre is a city of 180,000 people and was then the temporary home of King Albert of Belgium. It is a noted harbor and has been for many centuries and has many historic buildings. Seventeen days later they were ordered to Beaume, in ancient Burgundy, famous for its wine and Charles the Bold, arriving there on November 30th. Thanksgiving Day, the 29th, was spent in a crowded third-class railway car, with no hint of turkey and "fixin's." It was very cold there and rain fell almost continuously, which made it particularly hard on the California men who were used to so much sunshine. Dr. Teel was taken down with a severe attack of bronchitis the day after his arrival in Beaume and narrowly escaped pneumonia. While convalescing he was allowed to go to Nice and greatly enjoyed the beautiful surroundings of this famous pleasure resort, the Reviera and Monte Carlo. Base Hospital 96 was established at Beaume and continued in operation there till February 13, 1919, when a part of the unit was broken up and sent as casuals to Savanay. Dr. Teel was one of these and he supposed now he was booked for home, but to his surprise, after staying there a week he and three others were sent to Mesves, just south of Paris, where was a hospital capable of caring for 30,000 patients. Here they were assigned to go at once to Coblenz, where orders awaited them to proceed to Berlin for duty with the Inter-Allied Commission on the Repatriation of Russian prisoners of war. They arrived in Berlin March 20th and put up at Hotel Adlon, the principal hostelry of the city, where all the American, English and French attaches of army and hospital service stayed. There were six eye specialists in the American group, and Dr. Teel was one of them. Their main work was to establish hospitals in the numerous Russian prison camps dotted about Berlin and its environs, each containing 4000 prisoners and to have them made perfectly sanitary. They segregated the cases of eye disease and gave treatment to the worst cases until they could be removed to convalescent wards for final treatment. These camps were indescribably filthy, Dr. Teel says, and this caused much of the disease. All of the supplies used in their work was furnished by the Red Cross, with whom they worked. Americans were in great danger many times, particularly when the bloody riots were going on in which so many were shot down in the streets by machine guns and cannon. The weeks preceding the signing of the peace treaty by the German envoys was a time of tense anxiety. The laborers were for peace at any cost, but the military class and business men opposed it. Many of the higher army officers were courteous to them, the Doctor says, but the cadet officers were offensively hostile in speech and action. The Spartacides were working their propoganda constantly among the Russian prisoners and toward the last of Dr. Teel's stay he noticed that the majority of them wanted to stay in Germany, won over, possibly, by the Spartacides with promises of overturning the German and Russian governments and taking charge themselves. Dr. Teel took frequent trips to cities distant from Berlin as much as 100 miles, with Red Cross supplies, and he was always an object of great curiosity to the inhabitants, who had never before seen the American uniform. In one of his trips to Halle, Dr. Teel says, an officer tried to stage a riot against him by haranguing the crowds in the streets, but could not work them up to making an attack. In many of the towns German women with emaciated babies in their arms would gather around the big Red Cross machine and beg for food, for the shortage in that line was acute. This was the real cause of the war ending as soon as it did, the Doctor thinks.

One pleasant experience, which stands out prominently among so many distressing ones in Dr. Teel's memory was the short period spent in the great institution owned and presided over by Prof. Selix, the great German eye specialist, who was a mild-appearing old man and greeted the American doctors very cordially and courteously when he learned what they came for. Interesting as were his many experiences in the enemy's country, Dr. Teel was exceedingly glad when the announcement was made that he was to go home. His return journey was described in a previous issue of the Evening News. As an afterthought the Evening News representative asked the Doctor about the oft-repeated statement that every foot of German ground not occupied by streets and buildings, was intensively cultivated. He said that as far as his observation went and he traveled for considerable distances in all directions from Berlin, delivering Red Cross supplies, this is not true. Much land is devoted to parks and forests which could easily be transformed into farms, but this was not done, even when the need of increased food production was the most pressing. But the ground devoted to crops was everywhere most intensively worked. Berlin is a city of 2,000,000 inhabitants and seemed to have suffered little during the war, but its own people wrought great destruction on many buildings and parks during the riots following the signing of the armistice.

TUJUNGA

The amount of Thrift and War Savings Stamps purchased at the foothill valley postoffices since Jan. 1, 1919, is as follows: La Canada, none; La Crescenta, $85.27; Tujunga, $164.43; Sunland, $3. It will be seen that the amount purchased at Tujunga postoffice is almost twice as much as the total of the other three offices. It is a safe and sure investment. Keep up the good work.
